PREFACE.

THE series of Papal Regesta preserved in the Vatican Nature of archives consists of more than two thousand volumes, Regesta. placed in the order of successive pontificates, and covering the period from the end of the twelfth century to the end of the sixteenth. They contain contemporary, or nearly contemporary, copies of bulls, letters, and similar documents addressed to royal, noble, ecclesiastical, and other persons throughout the world. The system of registration in the Papal Chancery was not, however, nearly so perfect as that in the Chancery of the English kings, and there are still extant in the Public Record Office, in the British Museum, and elsewhere, many original bulls of which no mention can be found in the Regesta. Notwithstanding this defect, the volumes constitute an almost continuous record of very great historical value. They contain diplomatic correspondence, commissions to legates and nuncios, orders concerning ecclesiastical appointments, confirmations of monastic endowments and privileges, dispensations and indults to laymen as well as to clerks, and a vast amount of miscellaneous matter.

Several attempts have been already made to bring the Previous contents of certain volumes of the Papal Regesta under the notice of students, and to make them available for historical purposes.

publications.

The Regesta of Innocent III. (1198–1216) were printed in extenso by Baluze in 1682, and re-printed by the Abbé Migne.

Having regard, however, to the great bulk of the original volumes, and the amount of verbiage which they contain, subsequent editors have generally been satisfied with giving abstracts or extracts, and the Regesta of several pontificates have been treated in this manner.

The Abate Pressuti has published a calendar of those of Honorius III. (1216–1227).

The Benedictines attached to the staff of the Vatican archives have dealt more fully with those of Clement V. (1305-1314).

The late Cardinal Hergenröther, while Vatican archivist, projected and partially printed an edition of those of Leo X. (1513-1521).

The opening of the Vatican archives to students of all nations, by order of Pope Leo XIII., has enabled the Ecoles Françaises d'Athenes et de Rome, under the direction of the Minister of Public Instruction at Paris, to undertake systematic series of calendars of the Regesta of different pontificates, with a separate editor for each. Up to the present time the following have been set in hand:—

Gregory IX. (1227-1241). M. L. Audray.

Innocent IV. (1243-1254). M. E. Berger.

Urban IV. (1261-1264). MM. Dorez and Guiraud.

Clement IV. (1265-1269). M. E. Jordan.

Gregory X. (1271-1276). M. J. Guiraud.

John XXI. (1276, 1277). M. L. Cadier.

Honorius IV. (1285-1287). M. M. Prou.

Nicholas IV. (1288-1292). M. E. Langlois.

Boniface VIII. (1294–1303). MM. G. Sigard, M. Faucon, and A. Thomas.

Benedict XI. (1303, 1304). M. Ch. Grandjean.

Of the foregoing, the Calendar for the pontificate of Honorius IV. has been completed, and that for the contificate of Nicholas IV. is almost completed. The others are in different stages of progress.

Unfortunately, this very valuable series of publications is but little known in England, and some of the parts are already out of print.

There is no occasion to enumerate in this place the many books which give in extenso papal bulls and letters relating to particular subjects and countries, but an exception must be made in favour of a folio volume printed at the Vatican in 1864, in which the late Father A. Theiner collected extracts from the archives relating to Ireland and Scotland between the years 1216 and 1547 inclusive, under the title of " Vetera Monumenta Hiber-" norum et Scotorum historiam illustrantia." The want of an index is a serious detriment to the value of the book.

A somewhat similar collection of papal bulls and letters relating to England, Scotland, and Ireland alike, made by the late Abbate Marino Marini, covers the period from 1216 to 1759, and extends to fifty manuscript volumes, which were transferred from the State Paper Office to the British Museum in 1845 (Add. MSS. 15,351-15,400). Dean Milman made some use of this collection in his History of Latin Christianity, but its existence is not very generally known to students.

The object of the present undertaking is to provide an Object of English Calendar of all entries in the Papal Regesta of the present Calendar. the middle ages which illustrate the history of Great Britain and Ireland. For this purpose the successive volumes have been examined page by page, and, although it would be too much to say that nothing has been overlooked, the number of entries given is very materially larger than that given by Marini.

Every entry that the editor has seen relating to Great Some details Britain and Treland is noteied in its due order in the omitted.

Calendar, but formal clauses of frequent recurrence have been omitted, as also certain details which may be found in printed books, to which references are given.

Christian

As in the Calendars of the mediæval Patent Rolls and Close Rolls, which are being issued under the superintendence of the Deputy Keeper of the Records, ordinary Christian names are given in this Calendar according to their commonest modern English forms, while surnames, on the other hand, are given according to the form used in the Regesta.

Names of places. Most names of places are given in the Calendar according to the form used in the Regesta, the ordinary abbreviations being extended. "Those, however, which "occur in obviously Latinised forms, have been translated "-and printed according to the modern form, the original "rendering being in some cases retained within "brackets."

"In the Index, too, the names of places are given according to their ordinary modern form, when they can be identified with certainty and without difficulty."*

Palæographical difficulties. Some very fine photographic reproductions of selected leaves from the Papal Regesta may be seen in a volume published at the Vatican in 1888, under the title of "Specimina palæographica Regestorum Romanorum" Pontificum." Although the originals do not present so many palæographical difficulties as the mediæval rolls of the English Chancery, difficulties which are explained in Mr. Maxwell Lyte's prefaces to the official Calendars of Patent Rolls and Close Rolls, the abbreviations are sometimes perplexing. More frequent confusion arises from the very erroncous manner in which the papal scribes copied, perhaps from dictation, the names of persons and places in distant lands. An attempt has been made in the Index to give proper names in a recognisable form, but in many cases the task of identification has proved hopeless.

The present volume embraces the period from 1198 to 1304, which is contained in Vols. 4 to 51 of the Regesta, the first three volumes not belonging properly to the series.

The Deputy Keeper of the Records has laid down the rules for the formation of this Calendar, and has settled many difficulties which have from time to time arisen. The editor has to thank Mr. C. T. Martin for many very valuable corrections and suggestions, and Mr. H. Rodney for assistance in the revision of the Index.

n.d. Perugia. (f. 1d.) Letter to G. cardinal of St. Martin's, papal legate, acknowledging receipt of a letter from him, condoling with him on his labours and trials, and directing him to encourage king John, the pope's vassal, who has taken the cross.

3 Id. Aug. Perugia. (f. 2d.)

Restriction of a clause in a suit between the archbishops of Tuam and Armagh. In an audience granted by Innocent III. the archbishop of Tuam stated that the archbishop of Armagh had despoiled him by violence of the bishoprics of Ardagh and Kevan belonging to him as metropolitan, and of the churches of Kellmedoin, Kellbenoim, Craachpatric, Achadabain, Odun, and Turlacha, built and consecrated by his predecessors, and demanded restitution and compensation; the pope appointed Master Gregory, papal chaplain, to examine witnesses, who found it not proved that the archbishop of Armagh had despoiled the archbishop of Tuam of those bishoprics; the question of the proprietorship of the rest being reserved; but since it appeared that the archbi-hop of Tuam was in possession, the late pope prohibited the archbishop of Armagh from exercising episcopal rights over churches in the diocese of Tuam. It is now declared that the archbishop of Tuam has only episcopal rights, and that he is not to usurp any other in the said towns and churches [Theiner, 2.]

[Aug.] Civ.t. Castellana (f. 4.) Letter to G. cardinal of St. Martin's, papal legate, concerning the election to the see of Hereford. T. the chancellor, and Δ , canon of Hereford, proctors of the dean and chapter have stated before the pope that, after obtaining from king John licence to elect, they elected the dean to be bishop in due form, but that the king refused his assent, and appealed to the pope. They therefore prayed for confirmation of the election. Hubert, archdeacon of Arennes (de Harcnis), and R. the king's envoys, on the other hand stated that the chapter had incurred excommunication by favouring E. late bishop of Hereford, who had been excommunicated by N. bishop of Winchester and the bishop elect of Norwich, and that their election was consequently null. The proctors replied that the two prelates had only threatened the bishop with suspension if he did not make his peace with the king, and that he immediately returned to the king's grace, and died before reaching Hereford. They cited also, as evidence that the king did not consider them excommunicate, his letter to the chapter desiring them to elect a certain clerk of his. The pope orders his legate to make enquiries and to take measures for the confirmation of the election, if valid, or for a fresh election if necessary.

Mandate to the abbots of Circnester and St. Augustine's, and the priors of Bristol and Stodley, in the diocese of Worcester, on petition of the prior of Lanton, concerning the discipline of his house. Whereas certain of the brethren abstained from eating flesh meat in the refectory, some taking it in secret and unbecoming places (in abditis receptavulis et conventiculis inhonestis), so that the common table was half deserted, and quarrels and breaches of the rule ensued, H. late archbishop of Canterbury, coming to visit the priory, ordered the brethren to conform to the rule of St. Augustine, and on certain days to eat flesh meat together in the refectory, but some of them grumbling, the old abuses returned in greater force than ever. The pope therefore orders the observance of the archbishop's decree.

Mandate to the archbishop of York, on complaint of the prior and canons of St. Oswald's Nostle, that, notwithstanding the prior's appeal to Rome, he despoiled them of the churches of Kirkeli and Tiehehill, having broken the cross, and cast on the ground the host, which the canons and lay brothers held in their defence, expelled them from the churches, beating some of them, so that it is believed that one died of it, and that others are in danger of death, breaking down the altars and excommunicating the prior and canons, absolving clerks, vicars, and others from their fealty and from payment of their rents and pensions; to restore the said churches and possessions within fifteen days, make compensation before 1 October, and render an account to the prior and canons.

16 Kal. April. Lateran. (f. 87d.)

Indult to the abbot of St. Augustine's Canterbury, to extend the term for delivery in the suit between him and the archbishop of Canterbury to next Michaelmas. When this suit was brought before pope Innocent by Master Richard, envoy of the archbishop of Canterbury, the abbot asserting that he ought to receive benediction without having to make profession of obedience to the archbishop, according to the sentence of pope Alexander, which, however, Master Richard declared had been revoked by the same pope, it was decided by pope Innocent that the abbot should receive benediction without prejudice to the rights of the archbishop, appointing to each a term in the general council about to be held, in which, if the archbishop could show that the abbot ought to make to him the said profession, it would be made, if not, the abbot would be freed from the obligation. When the parties appeared before pope Innocent, the abbot petitioned him to proceed in the cause according to the form above noted, and the archbishop answered that he could not then proceed against the abbot, being hindered by other business, and not having full instructions; but the pope, being unwilling that the suit should be prolonged, said that he would either act as if the archbishop had appealed to Rome, or would confirm his predecessor's sentence, imposing perpetual silence on the archbishop. Whereupon the archbishop pleaded that the abbot was bound, by common right, to make profession to him, and prayed him to do so; on which the abbot answered that if he were bound by common right, by special right he was exempt, showing the privileges of the foundation of the church, and the sentence given by pope Alexander for the monastery; also reminding the archbishop that, contrary to the tenour of the privileges of the monastery, he had unlawfully excommunicated servants and clerks belonging thereto.

14 Kal. April. Lateran. (f. 90d.)

Mandate to G. cardinal of St. Martin's, papal legate, to enquire and report on a petition of the dean and chapter of Salisbury. They state that the cathedral, being within the line of defence, is subject to so many inconveniences, that the canons cannot live there without danger to life. Being in a raised place, the continual gusts of wind make such a noise that the clerks can hardly hear one another sing, and the place is so rheumatic by reason of the wind, that they very often suffer in health. The church, they say, is so shaken by wind and storm that it daily needs repair; and the site is without trees and grass, and being of chalk has such a glare that many of the clerks have lost their sight. Water, they say, is only to be got at a distance, and often at a price that, elsewhere, would buy enough for the whole district. If the clerks have occasion to go in and out on business, they cannot do so without leave of the castellan, so that on Ash Wednesday, Holy Thursday, and on synodal and ordination, and other solemn days, the faithful who wish to visit the church cannot do so, the keepers of the castle declaring that the defences would be endangered. Moreover, as many of the elerks have no dwellings there, they have to hire them from the soldiers, so that few are found willing or able to reside on the spot.

He is to place these canons in other regular churches, to declare null the election attempted by them, to appoint to that church persons faithful to the king, to distribute the possessions and rents of the church between the bishops and canons to be appointed, the king and the said bishops attesting that such measures would tend to tranquillity, as the church of Carlisle, being on the border, exercises much influence either for or against the king and his realm.

8 Id. July. Anagni. (f. 119.) Letter to the same, arging him to use the faculties granted to him in aid of the king and realm, and informing him that the pope has, on petition, added the earl of Chester as coadjutor to W. the marshal, on account of the great age of the latter. 8 Kal. Nov. Lateran. (f. 166d.)

Mandate to G. cardinal legate of St. Martin's, the archbishop of York, and the bishop of Salisbury, touching a petition of G. archdeacon of Norwich. He states that pope Innocent ordered the above named (the bishop of Salisbury being then bishop of Chichester) either to terminate the suit between himself and Master R. de Eboraco about the bishopric of Ely, or to remit it to Rome, but, on account of the troubles of the realm, this order could not be carried out, and the proctor of the said R. asserting that the archbishop was at such a distance from Elythat he could not, without heavy expense, take cognisance of the cause, eleverly contrived that the cause should be delegated to the abbot of Waltham and his colleagues, one of whom was at a distance of four days' journey from the rest. When the parties appeared before these judges, the same Master [R.], to put off the decision, propounded that he, having been despoiled. could not proceed in the cause. He, however, had not been despoiled by the archdeacon or anyone belonging to him, but by Falk, a knight, and other ministers of the king, who held Elv. and cast out of the church and city the aiders and abettors of Lewis. His return would injure the king and realm. The archdencon has, therefore, prayed the pope to remit the cause to the above, and this he does, notwithstanding the letters to the contrary obtained by the said Master [R.].

8 Id. Nov. Lateran. (f. 168d.) Although the said proceeds were granted by the pope for three years to the crusade, on the provost's taking the cross, it appears from letters of the king and G. cardinal legate, and the chapter of York, that the provost made no testimentary disposition of such proceeds, as was suggested, but resigned his benefices before setting out, and, on taking the vow, went to Fountains Abbey, where he died as an oblate of the monastery.

8 Id. Nov. Lateran. (f. 169.) Letter to the archbishop of York, informing him of the attempts against his rights, mentioned in the letter next preceding, and of the pope's action in this regard.

To the reply which the adverse party made, that the cause was remitted to the pope, Adam answered that it was remitted without instructions, so that the said legate and bishop were [in fact] ordered not to take cognisance, but to execute. and his witnesses and deeds were produced, not that they as judges should take cognisance, but to show that they ought not to proceed in the execution of the said matter. To the rejoinder made by the adverse party, that the right in the church was acquired by papal collation, he answered that this was by no means true, since it was not likely that it was the pope's intention to collate to his prejudice a church that was not void, wherefore he prayed the pope to impose silence on the said subdeacon [Pandulph], and to place himself [Adam] in possession of the church.

Nevertheless A. got apostolic letters to

He will do this unless he is obliged to defend himself against the king of England. Although the sons of King John have not the resources of their father, the king of France is unwilling to swear a truce, for he is of advanced age, and is obliged to observe his oath, while the sons of King John are under age, and therefore not so bound, so that he will cause his barons to swear the treaty, in number equal to those by whom the king of England shall cause it to be sworn.

6 Kal. May. (f. 91.)

Mandate to Pandulph, bishop elect of Norwich, papal legate, St. Peter's, Rome, to denounce and publish in each diocese of England as invalid letters obtained about benefices collated by G. cardinal legate, unless full mention be made in them of the deprivation and collation made by him, as it appears that while many clerks were deprived for disobedience, and their benefices given to persons faithful to the king, many of them saying nothing of the cause for which they were deprived, got letters by fraud from Rome, by means of which they disturb the clerks who hold those benefices.

Non. May. St. Peter's, Rome. (f. 91d.)

Mandate to the bishop of Salisbury and Pandulph, bishop elect of Norwich, papal legate, on the petition of the bishop of Winchester, to grant him a faculty to transfer a monastery of nuns from the centre of the city, where they are exposed to the observation and coupty talk of passers by, to the church of St. Cross, which he will do at his own and the monastery's cost, and also to place secular canons in the monastery.

6 Id. May. St. Peter's, Rome. (f. 93.)

Mandate to Pandulph, bishop elect of Norwich, papal legate, on the intimation of W. the marshal, earl of Pembroke, after examination had, to remove Master P. Malvicinus, canon of St. Patrick's, Dublin, of illegitimate birth, from the church of Ossory, of which the earl has the right of patronage. It appears that, during the voidance of that see, Master P. without a dispensation, attempted, in the hope first of election and then of postulation, to put himself into the church and minister in it, and that when he came with four canons to ask for confirmation from the archbishop of Dublin, he procured certain letters to be scaled with the scal of the chapter, by which, as far as he could be bound the church in a sum of 500 marks, although the chapter had expressly forbidden any letters, except those of procuration, to be scaled. It is feared that there are others scaled, to the great injury of the church of Ossory, as the letters of archdeacon G. and official R., sent to the pope by the said marshal, fully declare.

At the exhortation of Pandulph, papal legate, he has given to the pope his island of Man, and he binds himself and his heirs to hold it in fee from the Roman church, and to pay homage and fealty for it, paying yearly 12 marks in England at the abbey of Furnis, on the feast of the Purification. This gift the legate received on the part of the pope, and gave the island in fee to the king and his heirs, to be held in the name of the Roman church. Such letters do not agree with the transcript in the papal chancery. The pape has never given to any abbot leave to wear gloves and give solemn benediction. The question of legitimacy having been moved and discussed before the archlishop, nothing remained but to give sentence. Certain minors, who did not otherwise appear in the cause asserting by their guardian that it would be to their prejudice if sentence were given in favour of N, who they declared was not legitimate, inasmuch as they were children of the deceased by a lawful wife, appealed to the pape that the archbishop should not proceed in the cause, so that to the loss of the abbat and convent it remains unrettled; sentence is to be given without prejudice to the niners, who are to be indemnified.

6 Non. May. Lateran. (f. 188.) The king's letters were scaled and witnessed by William the Marshal, the Regent.

REGESTA, VOL. XIII.

9 HONORIUS III

3 Non. Aug. Lateran. (f. L) Request to the king of France to abstain from invading the territory of the king of England, with whom the pope has in vain urged him to prolong the truce in consideration of the Holy Land, in the cause of which the power of France has been the chief, and for which the pope has taken coursel with the emperor Ferdinand and the king of Sicily, so that by a general peace between Christian princes it should be possible for them all to come to its assistance. The pope has sent the Cistercian abbot of Hautecombe (de Columba) to represent him personally in this matter.

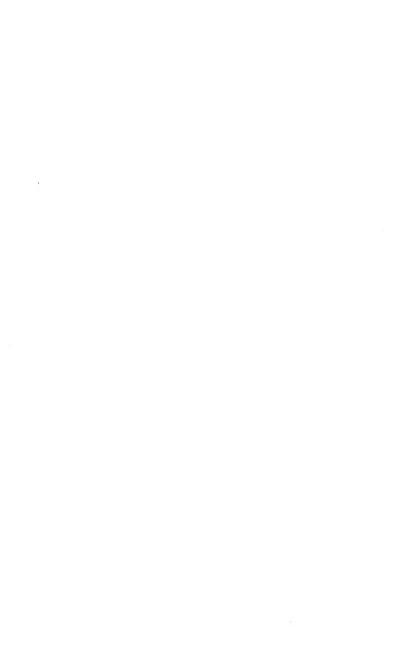

[Shirley, i. 541.]

Ibid.

Concurrent mandate to the said abbot.

Ibid.

Mandate to the archbishop of Sens and the bishop of Senlis to introduce the said abbot of Hautecombe (de Alta Comba) to the king of France, and to assist his mission.

[3 Non. Aug.]

Lateran.

Letter to king Henry acknowledging his letters by the abbots of Boxeli and Robertsbridge. He has written to the king of France about the business of Poitou, sending also letters to the same about the business of the count of La Marche. As he is unwilling that the truce should be postponed by occasion of choosing arbiters between the two kings to settle damages to be paid for injuries inflicted on either side during the truce, the pope suggests that the king should give his entire endeavours to a renewal of the truce.

n.d. Lateran. (f. 4d.) Mandate to the cardinal archbishop of Canterbury to cause the king to cease from attacking Falches de Breaute, against whom the ar hbishop and certain bishops have issued sentence of excommunication. The pope asks for explanations on the subject. Why, if these discords have arisen since the archbishop's letters informing him that peace was entirely restored in England, did not the archbishop at once let him know of them? Does the archbishop say that justice required that Falches should be attacked? At any rate, expediency required the contrary. Where is his abundant wisdom if it is by his advice that the king is making war on his subjects? He is also ordered to relax the sentence issued against Falches and his abettors.

[Shirley, i. 543.]

n.d. Lateran. (f. 4d.) Monition to king Henry to raise the siege of the eastle of Bedford, which his father gave to Falches de Breaute, and not to make war on his own subjects while foreign enemies are making war on his realm. The pope will, if required, settle any question between that nobleman and the king. [Shirley, i. 544.]

n.d. (f. 5.) Mandate to S. cardinal archbishop of Canterbury, Hubert de Burgo, justiciar, and others, the king's counsellors, to persuade the king to withdraw from the siege of the above castle, and to get the better of his vassals by benefits rather than by arms.

Letters to the pope, from [Lewis] king of France, sent by Stephen, his clerk, informing him that when the truce, settled between the late king Philip and himself of the one part, and king Henry of the other, was threatened, Lewis, who had no counsel from his barons as to making the truce with Henry, went in person to take possession of his field of Poitou, of which and other fiefs in France king John had been deprived by sentence of his peers the French barons, before Henry was born, since which time all those fiefs came into the hands of Philip and himself as heir to the realm of France; but Henry, offering opposition to this on the part of the realm of England as a fiel of the Roman church, sends an army to claim those fiefs of Lewis, of which John had been deprived by sentence of his peers. Lewis therefore prays the pope to revoke what has been done on the part of England as a papal fief; but if the king of England has acted on the pope's authority, the pope must not be surprised if Lewis determines to oppose him.

18 Kal. Jan. Lateran. (f. 20d.) Mandate to the priors of Kirkeham, Newburgh, and St. Andrew's, York, to cite both parties in the cause between the prior and brethren of St. Peter's hospital, York, and the abbots of Fountains, Meaux, Beiland, Girvalle and Kirkestall, about sheaves and other dues claimed by the hospital, which was tried by order of pope Innocent before the dean of Lincoln and his fellow judges, who wished to consult the pope on some points. Owing to the disturbed state of the realm the cause was left in abeyance, but now, on petition of the prior and brethren, it is renewed. The parties are to appear before the pope either in person or by proctors, to receive terms of agreement or a sentence.

3 Non. Feb. Lateran. (f. 31.) Mandate to the archbishops, bishops, abbots, provosts, and prelates of churches, and rectors in England, to give a subsidy to the king according to the income of their churches, the sums collected being assigned to trustworthy and discreet men, who shall hold them until the king and realm determine how they shall be spent: no precedent is hereby created.

Ibid. (f. 31d.) Mandate to S. cardinal archbishop of Canterbury, to act in his province as shall seem expedient in regard to the ancient custom of not permitting oaths to be taken between Septuagesima and the octave of Easter, and during Advent; the king having represented that the custom greatly hinders the course of justice.

[Shirley, i. 545.]

The like to the archbishop of York.

n.d. (f. 31*d*.) Request to Lewis, king of the French, to restore to the king of England those lands which he has knowingly invaded, making a truce in regard to them, and giving help to the Holy Land.

Ibid.

Request to the same to give the king of England no further cause of complaint, but to restore the land taken from him. R. carlinal deacon of St. Angelo, is to be sent to France as papal legate in regard to this and other matters.

15 Kal. Mar. Lateran. (f. 32d.) Letter to John Romanus, canon of York, declaring him legitimate, he having lost both parents when of tender age, and there having been some uncertainty about his birth.

4 Kal. Mar. Lateran. (f. 35.) Mandate to the dean, the archdeacon, and the sub-dean of Lincoln, to warn and induce the chaplains and other clerks of Beverley to abandon the evil custom of taking their meals away from the common table, so that the poor are deprived [of the remains].

5 Kal. Mar. Lateran. (f. 35.) Authority to John, sometime bishop of Ardfert, who has resigned the bishopric, to exercise the office of a bishop by permission of the diocesans.

[Theiner, 23.]

10 Kal. Feb. Lateran. (f. 39d.) To the archbishops, bishops, and other prelates of England. Condemnation of a book entitled Perifisis, already condemned in the provincial council of Sens, which is used in some monasteries and other places, ordering them to send all copies of it to the pope to be solennly burned, or to burn them in public: of the five books of which it consists, the first begins "Sepe mithi cogitanti diligentius que quantum vires suppetunt inquirenti"; and ends "tige limitem libri sat enim est in eo complexum": the fifth begins "Nunc ergo," and ends "et tenebras recte cognoscentium convertit in lucem."

Kal. Mar. Lateran. (f. 40d.) Mandate to the archdeacon of Berkshire (Beskir) to put an end to a suit about tithes between J. rector of Witham, and the abbot and convent of Abingdon, notwithstanding an indult which the latter obtained from the pope by making no mention of the controversy.

Id. Mar. Lateran. (f. 41d.) Faculty to the bishop of Hereford to license three of his clerks to hold an additional benefice apiece with cure of souls.

16 Kal. April.] Lateran. (f. 43d.)

Mandate to the bishops of Bath, Salisbury, Rochester, and Ely, on petition of the prior and convent of Durham, not to send to the pope the privileges and instruments ordered to be sent under seal, relating to the concord and peace which the above bishops were to attempt to bring about between the bishop and the prior and convent of Durham, until the cessation of the disturbances between France and England, which make it unsafe to send them.

2 Kal. Mar. Lateran. (f. 49d.)

Commission to the cardinal archbishop of Canterbury to proceed to a decision of a suit relating to the alleged marriage of Alan, knight, and Juliana, heard before the abbot of Bruern and his fellow judges. It was proved by witnesses that marriage had been contracted, but Alan pleaded an alibi, which the woman contested. Alan appealed to the pope, and though he renounced the appeal and continued to litigate before the delegates, he obtained papal letters to the dean of Andovre and others, before whom the woman propounded that the letters had been obtained by misrepresentation, and that the cause should be remitted to the former judges. This was not admitted; whereupon she appealed to the pope. But the first judges proceeding in the cause, though for fear of the knight and their own want of skill, they pronounced no sentence, remitted it to the pope, ordering the woman to present herself at the beginning of last Lent, which she has done, praying for judgment, but the pope, doubting whether the acts and attestations she brought with her were true, sends this mandate, ordering the archbishop, if the said knight will not be induced to treat the woman as a wife, to have the original acts produced and decide the matter.

4 Id. April. Lateran. (f. 53.) Concession to Abraham, monk of Aberconwe, on information and testimony of the abbot and convent of his monastery, of the king, and of the cardinal archbishop of Canterbury, that, notwithstanding his illegitimacy, he may be admitted to ecclesiastical dignities.

3 Non. May.
Tivoli.
(f. 56.)

Mandate to the abbot and convent of St. Mary's, York, on petition of the archbishop, to transmit to the pope before next Lettare Sunday, to be examined by him, all their indults and privileges, suspected by the archbishop and some skilled lawyers to be false; if they do not comply, the pope orders the priors of Coventry and Kinelleworthe and the archdeacon of Coventry to compel them.

3 Id. May.
Tivoli.
(f. 56d.)

Grant of protection and confirmation of possessions and privileges to the prioress of Moncketon, and her sisters present and future, and namely of the monastery of St. Mary, with its appurtenances, the churches of [Kirk] Hamerton and Hascam (Askham Richard), for the infirmary, the chapel of Walenton with its houses, lands, and appurtenances, two carucates of land in Hamerton, given by Agnes de Flamvile: three bovates of land in the same, given by Alan and his son Hugh; two bovates of land given by Richard; in Haliwarfale, the village of Stainestron, and in the town of Binington, six bovates of land; a messuage given by W. de Corneburch, four bovates of land given by R. de Hundemannebi in that town; a wood in the territory of Moncketon Fankener, called Gundelund, given by Gilibert de Beuimworth; from the prior and canons of Malton a yearly rent of 40s.; from the abbot and monks of Fountains 20s. a year, and all the land they have in Croch, with meadows, vineyards, lands, &c.

6 Id. May. Tivoli. (f. 59.) Mandate to the archbishops and bishops in England to cause each of their clerks to produce to them for examination letters and indults obtained in the pope's name during the past five years, seeing that some forgers have been caught in Rome with a false die. Any letters that appear suspicious are to be sent to Rome.

7 Id. May. Tivoli. (f. 59.) Indu't to Michael Scott to hold one additional benefice with cure of souls in England and two in Scotland.

2 Non. June. Tivoli. (f. 65.) Mandate to R. cardinal of St. Angelo, papal legate, to persuade Lewis, king of France, to allow Falches de Breaute to live in that realm until he is reconciled to king Henry, or the pope has made provision about the fulfilment of his vow; and to obtain leave also for Robert Passalawe, clerk, to stay in the same realm.

Non. June. Tivoli. (f. 65.) Dispensation, at the request of king Henry, to Master Martin de Pateshill, to hold two additional benefices with cure of souls.

3 Non. May. Tivoli. (f. 67.) Confirmation to the convent of Worcester of a composition made between them and the bishop relating to the institution and deprivation of the prior, the custedy of the priory during voidance, the proceeds of the tomb and shrine of St. Wulstan, and other articles, by the mediation of S. cardinal archbishop of Canterbury, the bishops of Lincoln and Bath, the abbots of Evesham and Reading, and Master S. de Ektun, clerk.

8 Id. July.
Rieti.
(f. 67d.)

Dispensation to William de Roleng, clerk, to hold an additional benefice, if he is legitimate.

10 HONORIUS III.

4 Kal. Aug. Rieti. (f. 74.) Mandate to the bishop of Caithness, the precentor of Moray, and the archdeacon of Aberdeen, on satisfactory proof, to restore to Maurice Ceeus, all of which he has been despoiled, or, in the absence of proof of the spoliation, to report to the pope on the process: the churches named are those of St. Mary de Nugh and the chapel of Standawich, St. Morach de Alter, and Tarvadal, Struf; also lands of Ardeondoch and Scuanede.

Id. Aug. Rieti. (f. 78d.)

Mandate to Stephen [Langton], cardinal archbishop of Canterbury, and Master Otto, papal sub-deacon and chaplain, on the petition of the abbot and convent of Dorchester, for the translation of the body of Birinus, bishop, in their church, to a more fitting place. The pope has already ordered the archbishop, archdeacon, and official of Canterbury to authorise the abbot and convent to do this, and has received letters from them informing him that they have been to the place and opened the tomb. which appeared to be that of the saint; but, as Bede says in his book, De gestis Anglorum, that the body had been translated to Winehester, the matter was remitted to the pope. He refers it to the archbishop, ordering him to go to Winchester and examine the matter. Inasmuch as Bede relates many things on hearsay. and as the bodies of two holy bishops, Birinus and Bertinus. were buried at Dorchester, it may be that what Bede wrote of Bertinus, has, by the earelessness of copyists, been applied to Birinus. The archbishop is therefore to pronounce that the body of St. Birinus is at Dorchester, and is to give papal licence to the abbot and convent to translate it.

3 Id. Dec. Rieti. (f. 99.) Canonization of St. Laurence [O'Toole]. Relaxation of twenty days of enjoined penance to those penitents who visit the church of St. Mary, En (de Ango), in the diocese of Rouen, in which the body of St. Laurence, archbishop of Dublin, is buried, on the appointed feast of that saint or during the octave. The examination into the life and miracles of St. Laurence was ordered to be made by the archbishop, the dean, and the treasurer of Rouen, but, as St. Laurence arrived there only a week before his death, they wrote to the archbishop of Dublin, who, being occupied in the king's business out of Ireland, committed the matter to the bishop of Derry and the prior of Holy Trinity Dublin, who received depositions of witnesses, and sent them to the pope, from which it appears that St. Laurence was son of the king and queen of Ireland, well instructed in theology from his earliest years, and always far removed from levity and worldly delights; being made archbishop he was constant in prayer, bodily mortifications, and almegiving: as to his miracles, the deaf, dumb, and sick are healed; he restored seven dead persons to life. His feast is fixed on the 18th of December.

6 Id. Dec. Rieti. (f. 100d.) Mandate to the bishops of Bath, Salisbury, Rochester, and Ely, to receive lawful proofs from either party of alienations of episcopal goods said to have been made by the bishop of Durham without consent of the prior and convent, between whom and the bishop a cause is pending in regard to the custody of void churches of the advowson of the prior and monks, alienations, and other matters. The above bishops are to send the proofs, with a full report, to the pope.

Ibid. (f. 101.)

Mandate to the same to relax any sentence of excommunication issued against either party in the above suit, on restitution of that by taking which, during the suit, the sentence was incurred; and to take care that nothing of the sort is done in the future by either party.

[15 Kal. Jan.] Rieti. (f. 101.) Mandate to the prior of Kenilworth and the dean and precentor of Lichfield to restore to the abbot and convent of Burthon the manor which they, being then burdened with debt, granted in fee to Philip Marci, a layman of the diocese of Coventry, and his wife, for 100 marks, rashly binding themselves, under pain of excommunication, if they annulled the grant, so that the monastery, seeing that the manor is worth 20 marks a year in rents, is grievously injured. A penance is to be enjoined to the abbot and convent for their rashness, and Philip is to be satisfied for all expenses incurred.

13 Kal. Jan. Riete. (f. 102d.) Request to the king of Scotland, on petition of Aliz, a widow, banished from that realm, that she may return to her own again. The king has already, at the pope's request, restored her goods, but because he had sworn, after the manner of an angry man, that she should never re-enter his kingdom, she is still unable to profit by his lenity.

1226. 6 Id. Jan. Rieti. (f. 105d.)

Injunction and mandate to the count of La Marche, on complaint of the king of England, to return to the fealty of the said king, putting aside plea and excuse, notwithstanding any oath he may have taken contrary to that of allegiance, the bishops of Dax and Bazas, and the archdeacon of Bazas, having the orders to compel him, by papal sentence, if he does not obey.

The like to Geoffrey de Lesiniaco, the viscount of Limoges, Savarie de Maloleone, Americus de Rupe of the diocese of Angoulème, Hugh de Thoarcio, the viscount of Thouars (Ioharcie), William Maingo of the diocese of Saintes, Geoffrey de Rancon of the same diocese, Reginald de Pontubus of the same diocese the count of Perigord, Geoffrey Rudel, William son of the archbishop (Willelmo Archiepi).

Concurrent letters to the bishops of Dax and Bazas, and the archdeacon of Bazas.

Ibid. (f. 106d.) Indult, at the request of king Henry, to his clerk Stephen de Eketon, of legitimate birth, to hold an additional benefice, with cure of souls.

4 Kal. Feb. Rieti. (f. 108.) Mandate to the dean and primarius of York, on petition of William, a clerk, setting forth that he made a clandestine marriage with a spinster, by whom he has had no children, and that they both have since made a vow of chastity, and praying for licence to be promoted to holy orders, the continence of the woman being unsuspected, to call the latter before them and to grant the licence, if the facts are as stated.

13 Kal. Feb. Rieti. (f. 108d.) Licence, in consideration of the king, for his servant Stephen do Lucy, of legitimate birth, to hold one additional benefice, with cure of souls.

3 Kal. Feb. Rieti. (f. 109.) Exhortation to the archbishop of Dublin to obtain a subsidy, according to papal mandate, for king Henry from the churches of Ireland.

Ibid.

The like to the bishops of Bath and Salisbury in regard to the churches of England.

n.d. Ibid. Mandate to the bishop of Salisbury, in answer to his request, to take proceedings against pluralists in his diocese who hold many churches, with cure of souls, contrary to the decrees of the general council, though they have papal dispensations for the same; also against those who mainister in churches in which their fathers ministered, and against those rectors who refuse to be ordained, and against vicars who take stipends for their vicarages but do not serve them.

5 Kal. Feb. Rieti. (f. 109.) Exhortation and mandate to archbishops, bishops, abbots priors, and other prelates and rectors of churches in Ireland, to appoint prudent and approved men to collect money for the king's subsidy.

[Theirer, 25.]

6 Kal. Feb. Rieti. (f. 109.) Licence for the archbishop of York to summen to his assistance when necessary, to advise in the affairs of his province, four principal persons, against whom a papal mandate has been issued to the bishop of Coventry and his fellow judges in order to compel them to reside in the church of Coventry under pain of losing their income, on condition that they are not to be continually absent from the said church.

4 Kal. Feb. Rieti. (f. 109d.)

Mandate to the prior and convent of St. Andrews to let Master William de Sancto Germano, papal chaplain, have the church of Rossinclerach, for institution to which he has been presented to by the bishop of St. Andrews by the prior and convent, between whom and Master William de Grenelawe, who detained that church, a question has arisen, the prior and convent asserting that William had another church contrary to the statutes of the general council. At length a composition was made between Eustace and Henry, canons and proctors of the convent, and the said William, who made oath that if they could prove that he accepted, after the council, any benefice with cure of souls, or if he could obtain the church of Lilliselive, which he was striving to get he would surrender Ressinclerach.
